ABOU BEN ADHEM

—By—

JAMES HENRY LEIGH HUNT

Abou Ben Adhem (May his tribe increase!)
Awoke one night from a deep dream of peace,
And saw, within the moonlight in his room,
Making it rich, and like a lily in bloom,
An Angel writing in a book of gold:
Exceeding peace had made Ben Adhem bold,
And to the Presence in the room he said,
"What writest thou?" The Vision raised its head,
And with a look made of all sweet accord
Answered, "The names of those who love the Lord."
"And is mine one?" said Abou. "Nay, not so,"
Replied the Angel. Abou spoke more low,
But cheerily still; and said, "I pray thee, then,
Write me as one that loves his fellow men."

The Angel wrote, and vanished. The next night
It came again with a great wakening light,
And showed the names whom love of God had blessed,
And lo! Ben Adhem's name led all the rest!

DEDICATION

To that courageous and adventurous band of medical pioneers whose stories are included here and who like Abou Ben Adhem of old have indeed demonstrated their love for their fellow men—this little book is most gratefully dedicated.

Sampson County was greatly honored in May of this year when Mrs. Donnie Martin Royal of Salemburg was installed as President of the Auxiliary to the Medical Society of the State of North Carolina. It is the first time that this signal distinction has been bestowed upon a member of the Sampson County Auxiliary.

As she began the task of selecting a project or projects for emphasis during her year in office, Mrs. Royal discussed with Mr. James T. Barnes, Executive Secretary of the Medical Society of the State of North Carolina, her plans, and especially her interest in historical research. Out of their enthusiastic discussion came a definite request from the Archives Committee of the Medical Society that the Auxiliary assist in the collection of all forms of archives in the preservation of medical history of North Carolina. Quite naturally Mrs. Royal was eager that her own county unit take the lead in demonstrating the potentialities existent in this broad field. Therefore she suggested to the Auxiliary to the Medical Society of Sampson County that it undertake the publication of a brief history of Sampson County physicians. The Auxiliary adopted her suggestion, and individual members have been most cooperative in collecting material and making plans for publication of this book. It is her hope that "Sampson County M. D.'s" may serve as a challenge to other county auxiliaries to select and begin work on projects suited to their particular localities and achievements.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The Auxiliary to the Sampson County Medical Society acknowledges with deep appreciation the assistance given by many persons in securing the material used in this book, in preparing it for publication, and for the numerous quotations from individuals and from editorials used in evaluating the work of many of the "doctors of yesterday."

The Auxiliary wishes particularly to express its grateful appreciation to

Mr. Claude H. Moore of Turkey, well-known historian, for his invaluable work in securing and furnishing information not otherwise available and to

Mrs. Kathleen Matthews Carter of Salemburg who has been responsible for organizing and compiling the material on Sampson County doctors. Mrs. Carter, who is the only daughter of the late Dr. James O. Matthews, wishes her time and effort to be considered as a tribute to the memory of her own father and his forty-five years of service to the people of lower Sampson.

A NOTE

Those who have been responsible for this publication have endeavored to make this record of Sampson County's M. D.'s a complete one by including therein a record of every medical doctor who was born in Sampson, or who has lived in this county. If any doctor has been omitted, or available data has been left out, it has been entirely unintentional — and proper apology is hereby offered.

Surely

if any receive reward
in the life hereafter, the Godly physician should,

For it is he who comes to us

in sunshine and rain,
in storm and snow,
and at the midnight
hour;

Whose rest is broken,
whose life is not his own;

who mingles continuously with suffering and dares contagion;
who binds our wounds,
who turns despair to hope when he can,

and when he cannot,

Seeing our hour is come,
closes our mortal eyes
and crosses

our pallid hands upon our breasts
when our spirits are fled.

(From the obituary of Dr. Allmand Holmes—believed to have been from the pen of Mr. Lauchlin A.
Bethune, Editor of "The Sampson Democrat.")

We Present Our Purpose

FOREWORD

It has been said that a nation is the sum total of all the people who ever lived within its borders. In the same sense Sampson County is the aggregate of all the men and women who have ever lived here—the summation of all their hopes and aspirations, their dreams and fears, their talents and abilities, their strengths and weaknesses, their successes and even their failures. In short, all the qualities and experiences peculiar to the human race have been fused to make what we sometimes call the "State of Sampson."

Among those who have contributed most to the overall history of Sampson, no group has been more influential than the members of the medical profession who have ever marched in the vanguard of progress. This was true of the pioneering William Houston, of the none the less truly pioneering George Marion Cooper, and of the men who are following in their footsteps today.

Because of the superior educational training necessary to practice his profession, because of his natural interest in scientific achievements, and because of his very keen realization of the importance of keeping up with new inventions and new methods, the doctor early became the most progressive element of our citizenship. Almost invariably he was the first in his section to read the daily newspapers, to subscribe to magazines, to own and drive an automobile, or to buy a radio. In a word, he was almost always the best informed man in our small town or rural community. These facts plus the intimate association with his patients and his genuine interest in and affection for them made him in a very real sense a leader of his people. He not only prescribed tonics and pills and watched over the physical well-being of his patients, but on occasion he also advised them what crop to plant, what church to attend, what bank to patronize, what candidate to vote for, what schools to select for their children, loaned them money, wrote their wills, comforted them in time of trouble, patched up their family quarrels, and was almost always confidant and friend. The practice of a general practitioner of those days was certainly general!

In return the family doctor was almost always the most loved and respected man in the town or community. Perhaps this veneration for a family doctor was never more beautifully expressed than in the erection of a granite monument at Kerr in memory of the beloved Dr. Charles Stevens Kerr, paid for by the voluntary contributions of his grateful patrons whom he had served so faithfully for fifty years.

It is men like these, who have practiced medicine not merely to make money but first of all to serve their fellow-man, who present the challenge to the modern doctor to measure up to the immeasurably greater opportunities that present-day knowledge and scientific advances present. And so this saga of the service of former Sampson County doctors has been planned and written in order that the members of the medical profession, may through the preservation of these records not only learn to cherish and understand the traditions and ways by which they came, but may also be inspired to envision a more splendid future.

FOREWORD

It has been said that a nation is the sum total of all the people who ever lived within its borders. In the same sense, the nation of the future is the sum total of all the people who have ever lived and are still living. The nation of the future is the sum total of all the people who have ever lived and are still living. The nation of the future is the sum total of all the people who have ever lived and are still living.

A nation is a group of people who have lived together for a long time. A nation is a group of people who have lived together for a long time. A nation is a group of people who have lived together for a long time. A nation is a group of people who have lived together for a long time. A nation is a group of people who have lived together for a long time.

The history of the United States is the history of a people who have lived together for a long time. The history of the United States is the history of a people who have lived together for a long time. The history of the United States is the history of a people who have lived together for a long time. The history of the United States is the history of a people who have lived together for a long time. The history of the United States is the history of a people who have lived together for a long time.

It is not the people who have lived together for a long time. It is not the people who have lived together for a long time. It is not the people who have lived together for a long time. It is not the people who have lived together for a long time. It is not the people who have lived together for a long time.

We Pay Homage To The Past

"No true and permanent fame can be founded except in labors which promote the happiness of mankind."

Charles Summer

Dr. William King Anders

1847 - 1909

- I. Born in Bladen County at Gravel Hill.
Parents: William Washington and Catherine King Anders
- II. Attended Medical College in Charleston.
- III. Married Ella Jane Cromartie of Tallahassee.
Children: Marie Anders Newkirk, Kerr
Leon Anders, Wilmington
Florie Anders, Birmingham
Agnes Anders Bessenger
- IV. Dr. Anders lived near Kerr and practiced throughout that section; later moved to New Hanover County.

Dr. Homer Arthur

- I. Born in Maryland.
- III. Married Viola Fennell.
One son: Joe Arthur of New York
- IV. Came to Sampson County from Maryland about 1900—located at Harrells Store, where he practiced for five years. Moved from Harrells Store to Magnolia and eventually returned to Maryland.
- V. The story is told that Dr. Arthur had his tonsils removed back in the period when a tonsilectomy was a very unusual operation, and many of his southern patients believed that his Yankee brogue was the result of the operation.

Dr. Forrest McLean Bennett

? - 1953

- I. Born at Clinton.
Parents: Hardy Kerving and Elizabeth Cooper Bennett
- II. Medical College of Virginia 1914; internship and residency at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Richmond—with emphasis on Surgery.
- III. Married Caroline Pettus, Richmond.
One son: Edward Dabney Bennett, Richmond
- IV. Practiced at Richmond—affiliated in various capacities at Memorial Hospital; Sheltering Arms Hospital; Retreat for the Sick Hospital.
- V. In 1931 Dr. Bennett was seriously injured in an automobile wreck and was unable to resume his practice until 1943, and then only on a very limited scale. Relatives say that only his courage and determination, plus the best medical attention, brought him partial recovery after his accident. He is remembered for his modesty and loyalty to family and friends.

Dr. Claude Benton

- I. Born at Newton Grove.
Parents: Dr. James H. and Maggie Monk Benton
Uncle: Dr. John Carr Monk
- II. It is believed that Dr. Benton received his medical education at Jefferson Medical College in Philadelphia.
- III. Never married.
- IV. Practiced with his father in Newton Grove, and then accompanied his father to New Bern in the 1890's. Dr. Benton was still a young man at the time of his death.

Dr. James H. Benton

1847 - 1904 (?)

- I. Born at Bentonville.
Parents: Alex and Susan Cox Benton
- II. Graduated from Jefferson Medical College in Philadelphia before 1876.
- III. Married Maggie Monk, who was a sister of Dr. John Carr Monk.
Children: Dr. Claude Benton, New Bern
Clyda Benton, New Bern
Lulu Benton, New Bern
All three children died unmarried, and at a comparatively young age.
- IV. Dr. Benton practiced medicine in Newton Grove from 1876 until early in the 1890's when he decided to study dentistry. Moved to New Bern where he practiced dentistry until his death.
- V. Dr. Benton was a brother-in-law of Dr. John Carr Monk of Newton Grove who persuaded him to study medicine, paid expenses of his medical education and turned a large part of his practice over to him when he returned to Newton Grove. He remained at Newton Grove for several years after Dr. Monk's death.

The following old newspaper clipping is quoted because of light it throws on social life of the period:

"The candy stew at Mr. Isaac Williams' in honor of Misses Holliday (daughter of Dr. Holliday of Clinton) and Patrick was very much enjoyed, also several other parties were enjoyed, especially a sociable at Dr. Benton's."

The Benton family seems to have kept up its social contacts with Clinton friends even after the family moved to New Bern, for clippings refer to frequent exchange of visits between Miss Clyda Benton of New Bern and the Patricks. An account of the Clute-Patrick wedding in December, 1899, lists Miss Clyda Benton of New Bern and Miss Mary Lang Holliday as "ushers." Incidentally, Dr. Frank H. Holmes served as best man on this occasion.

Dr. Henry Arthur Bizzell

1818 - 1873

- I. Born at Rosin Hill in Sampson County.
Parents: Ashur and Mary (Polly) Smith Bizzell
Brothers: Dr. James A. Bizzell of Clinton; Dr. John Bizzell of Florida; Dr. William Bizzell of Elizabethtown.
Great-grandson: Dr. Franklin Grady of New Bern.
- II. Educated at Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia.
- III. Married a Miss Royall.
One son: Hardy Royall Bizzell of Arkansas
Second wife was Celestial Price Robinson of Clinton.
Children: Mary Charlotte Grady (mother of Judge Henry A. Grady of New Bern)
James Smith Bizzell
Anna Elizabeth Bizzell
Mattie Bizzell Robinson (mother of Mrs. J. Bayard Clark of Fayetteville)
Keturah (Katie) Boykin
Margaret Williams
Julia Robinson Stewart (mother of Harry L. Stewart of Clinton)
Alberta Devane
Ashur Roscoe Bizzell
Henry A. Bizzell, Jr.
Adelaide Pearsall (the only one living)
- IV. Practiced in Clinton in partnership with his brother, Dr. James A. Bizzell.
- V. Dr. Bizzell's house was located on College Street in Clinton, and is now owned by Mrs. John B. Williams.
Dr. Bizzell was recognized as an outstanding citizen and physician.

Dr. James Andre Bizzell

1821 - 1878

- I. Born at Rosin Hill in Sampson County.
Parents: Ashur and Mary (Polly) Smith Bizzell
Brothers: Dr. Henry A. Bizzell of Clinton; Dr. John Bizzell of Florida; and Dr. William Bizzell of Elizabethtown
- II. Attended Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia.
- III. Never married.
- IV. Partner of his brother, Dr. Henry A. Bizzell, in practice at Clinton, both before and after Civil War.
- V. Dr. Bizzell saw service during the Civil War, being commissioned Regimental Surgeon in 1861 upon the organization of the 20th North Carolina Regiment. When the war was over he resumed his practice in Clinton with his brother, continuing to practice until the death of Dr. Henry A. Bizzell in 1873 when he decided to give up his practice and retire to his farm near Clinton.

Dr. John Bizzell

1816 - ?

- I. Born at Rosin Hill in Sampson County.
Parents: Ashur and Mary (Polly) Smith Bizzell
Brothers: Dr. Henry A. Bizzell and Dr. James A. Bizzell of Clinton; Dr. William Bizzell of Elizabethtown
- II. Educated at Jefferson Medical College. (?)
- IV. Moved to Florida and practiced there.

Dr. William Bizzell

1828 - ?

- I. Born at Rosin Hill in Sampson County.
Parents: Ashur and Mary (Polly) Smith Bizzell
Brothers: Dr. Henry A. Bizzell and Dr. James A. Bizzell of Clinton, and Dr. John Bizzell of Florida
- II. Educated at Jefferson Medical College. (?)
- III. Married a Miss Barnes.
One daughter: Mary Bizzell McLean.
- IV. Dr. Bizzell moved to Elizabethtown before his marriage and did his practice there. He built the old Bizzell home which still stands on Main Street. He was buried in Elizabethtown.

Dr. John Black

? - 1866

- I. Born in New Hampshire.
- III. Available records state that Dr. Black was married at the Jeremiah Seavy home, but the name of the bride is not recorded!
- IV. Dr. Black was a friend of Dr. Jeremiah Seavy, who also came from New Hampshire. He came to Dr. Seavy's home sometime prior to 1860, and was associated with him in his practice.

Dr. Thomas J. Boykin

- I. Born in Sampson County.
- III. Married Fannie Elizabeth Boykin. (Died 1865).
Children: Howard Boykin (Died 1885)
Ella Boykin (Died 1855)
- IV. Commissioned a surgeon in 1861, and was assigned to the 26th North Carolina Regiment in the Confederate Army.

Dr. John A. Bryan

Available information regarding Dr. Bryan is limited to Kemp P. Battle's History of the University of North Carolina.

Volume I, page 800 of the appendix lists those who "matriculated with the class of 1845." Under this listing he gives:

"John A. Bryan, of Sampson, physician and member of the State Legislature."

Dr. Thomas Cleborne Bullock

1863 - 1938

- I. Born in Cumberland County near Autryville.
Parents: Thomas and Katherine Averitte Bullock
- II. Attended free schools of community; Warsaw Academy (where he decided to study medicine through association with a Dr. Hussey); Medical College of Virginia; College of Physicians and Surgeons of Baltimore; and after doing intern work at John Hopkins Hospital, took a special course in obstetrics at Maryland Womans Hospital.
- III. Married Lula Dobson of Warsaw.
Two daughters: (Both registered nurses)

Mrs. Carrie Hirsch, Chicago
Mrs. Annie Hackendorn, Wilmington

- IV. Physician, surgeon, and pharmacist at 19, Dr. Bullock began practice at Autryville, living on an estate which was a grant from the British crown to his grandfather, James Bullock. He practiced at Autryville until his death.
- V. Dr. Bullock, one of the most highly educated of Sampson's early doctors, began his practice back in the days when transportation was still a difficult problem. During his long years of activity, he traveled by horseback; by horse and buggy; on foot (he once walked through deep snow to deliver a baby); and eventually by automobile, owning the first one in his section.

Not only a physician and surgeon but also a registered druggist, he operated his own drug business in connection with his medical work and for the benefit of his patients. He also became interested in farming, buying and operating several farms.

During his later years, Dr. Bullock was a very cautious driver. The writer of this article was once one of a group of passengers who were riding in his limousine and who were very anxious to reach Fayetteville by a certain time. Dr. Bullock, driving at the leisurely speed of fifteen miles per hour, saw another car approaching and consoled his passengers as follows: "Now, don't be alarmed, young ladies, I'll just slow right down until we get by the other car." And he did!

Dr. Happer Bumgardner

- I. Born in Virginia.
- II. Attended Medical College of Virginia.
- III. Never married.
- IV. Dr. Bumgardner practiced medicine for several years in the late 1800's at Elliott in Turkey Township, living with an aunt, Mrs. E. L. Faison.

Dr. Thomas Bunting

1800 - 1871

- I. Born near Clinton.
Parents: David and Elizabeth Clinton Bunting
Father-in-law of Dr. John Hampden Hill
- II. Attended school in Wilmington and was (in 1826) a student at the University of North Carolina.

- III. Married Elizabeth Holmes.
Children: Louisa Bunting Hill
Elizabeth Bunting
Mildred Bunting
Thomas Bunting, Jr.

- IV. After his marriage he settled on a plantation three miles east of Clinton where he practiced until his death.
- V. Dr. Bunting was also interested in politics and was twice elected to serve in the State Senate.

Dr. Bruce Fowler Butler

1887 - 1948

- I. Born in Clinton.
Parents: John Robert and Nora Spell Butler
- II. Attended Belvoir Elementary School; Buies Creek Academy (now Campbell College); Wake Forest College; Virginia Medical College at Richmond (class of 1910). Interned at Saint Luke's Hospital in Richmond.
- III. Married Edna Ann Shine of Faison.
Children: Mrs. Patricia Butler King, Avon Park, Florida
Sally Butler, Hollywood, Florida
Robert Butler, Hollywood, Florida
Henry Butler, Hollywood, Florida
- IV. Practiced first at Faison. In 1917 volunteered for military service, serving in Europe until end of war. In 1919 opened office in Clinton; and in 1925, moved to Hollywood, Florida, where he practiced until his death in 1948.
- V. Dr. Butler was active in organizing Public Health Department of Broward County. Port Commissioner for Hollywood at Port Everglades; Broward County School Trustee; Past President of Rotary Club; Past Commander of the American Legion; Mason; member Broward Mosquito Control Board; member of Baptist Church. His hobbies were football, hunting, and fishing.

Dr. Ransom Lee Carr

1878 - ?

- I. Born in Duplin County.
Parents: Gabriel Boney and Isabela Catherine Johnson Carr
- II. Graduated from Davidson College and University of Maryland.
- III. Married Victoria Jane Patterson of Taylorsville.
Children: George Boney Carr

Murphy Lee Carr
Victor Patterson Carr

In 1914 Dr. Carr married Mary Estelle Moore of Charlotte.

Children: Stella Catherine Carr
Charleton Carr

- IV. Practiced Magnolia, Rose Hill, Taylor's Bridge and Delway sections.
- V. Dr. Carr had a rather unusual but effective method of diagnosis. He himself was authority for the statement that if he could not easily diagnosis a case, he would sit and talk to the family, and especially the children, for a couple of hours. He would learn what the family had been doing and eating, and often would find the clue to the illness.

Dr. Carr, who was always interested in anything for the welfare of his community, served in both houses of the North Carolina legislature; and always showed great interest in civic affairs.

Dr. Augustus Vassar Cates

- I. Birthplace, parentage and dates unknown.
- II. Medical school unknown.
- III. Married Caro Hogan of Chapel Hill.
Children: Eva Cates Height
Augustus Vassar Cates, Jr.
- IV. Dr. Cates practiced in Taylor's Bridge Township from about 1889 to 1896.
- V. Dr. and Mrs. Cates came from Chapel Hill and bought the Parish Place (now owned by A. J. Snipes) about the time of death of Dr. G. W. Moseley. They remained about six or seven years and then moved to Decatur, Georgia. At least two men in the community are named "Vassar" for Dr. Cates.

Dr. George A. Caton

1870 - 1932

- I. Born at Bayboro.
Parents: John and Catherine Rowe Caton.
Son-in-law of Dr. John Carr Monk.
- II. Attended University of North Carolina; Jefferson Medical College; Columbia University; University of Berlin.
- III. Married Catherine Monk who was the daughter of Dr. John Carr Monk of Newton Grove.

Children: Kathleen Caton Rudolph
Elizabeth Caton Bowman, Southern Pines
George Caton, Jr.

- IV. Practiced in Newton Grove; Charlotte; Bayboro; New Bern.
- V. Dr. Caton specialized in stomach disorders after completing his study at the University of Berlin.

A newspaper clipping of that period reads as follows: Mrs. Euphemia A. Monk of Newton Grove has issued invitations to the marriage of her daughter, Miss Katie, to Dr. George A. Caton of New Bern on Wednesday, November 23rd, at 11 o'clock in St. Mark's Catholic Church, Newton Grove, N. C.

Dr. Abner Tilman Cooper

1854 - 1903

- I. Born in South Carolina.
Parents: Mr. and Mrs. Michaux Cooper
- II. Graduated at Baltimore Medical College 1884 in General Orthopedic Surgery. Licensed at Raleigh 1885.
- III. Married Frankie Lewis.
Children: Robert Cooper
Michaux Cooper
Abner T. Cooper, Jr.
Mary Cooper Faulk
Gipson Cooper
Gladys Cooper Taylor
Maggie Cooper Jones
- IV. Practiced first in the White Oak Community, then moved to Sallengburg Community where he practiced until his death.
- V. Dr. Cooper was reared in Sampson County by Miss Sallie Page and her two sisters. The Page sisters were well-to-do and were financially able to provide for his medical education. He is remembered as a pleasant old doctor whose pet aversion was patent medicine.

Dr. George Marion Cooper

1876 - 1950

- I. Born at Clinton.
Parents: Amos Jeshier and Eliza Britt Cooper.
Uncle: Dr. John Fleet Cooper
- II. Studied in Clinton Public Schools and Clinton Male Academy. First studied medicine with his uncle, Dr. John Fleet Cooper of Roseboro. Taught school to help finance education at Medical College of Virginia where he graduated in 1905.

- III. Married Cornelia Powell of Clinton in 1907.
Children: Dr. George M. Cooper, Jr., Raleigh
John Phil Cooper, Winston-Salem
Mrs. A. Sam Krebs, Cincinnati
- IV. Began practice in 1905 at Clinton as a partner of Dr. Frank H. Holmes. Partnership dissolved in 1913 when Dr. Cooper gave up private practice to become the first County Health Officer of Sampson County. Two years later he left Sampson to become a member of the State Board with headquarters in Raleigh.
- V. Mr. John A. Oates of Fayetteville says, "No man of his generation has contributed as much as has Dr. Cooper in the field of Public Health and Preventive Medicine."

Dr. Cooper in his first years as a general practitioner became gravely concerned about the prevalence of typhoid fever, tuberculosis and the terrifically high mortality rate in his community. It was a concern which was to become the motivating force of his life and career as he left the field of general practice to explore the uncharted areas of urban clean-up campaigns, rural sanitation experiments and typhoid fever clinics. It was a pioneering activity which in 1915 was to take him to Raleigh where as a member of the Executive Staff of the State Board of Health, he was to enter upon a thirty-five-year crusade for better health for all the people of North Carolina.

Dr. Cooper's appointment as State Medical Inspector of Schools in 1917 was a new challenge, and he answered that challenge in 1918 with a plan to provide free dental care for school children; and in 1919 his answer was a farflung system of clinics for the removal of diseased tonsils and adenoids of public school children. Just as many people are fascinated by travelling in new lands and across strange seas, Dr. Cooper was fascinated by new methods and modern approaches to the problems of sanitation, high mortality rate, immunization, or any other practical plan of preventing disease and suffering. Fortunately the State Board was aware of the value of his untiring work and in 1923 he became Assistant State Health Officer, a position which he held until his death in 1950, after having served thirty-four years on the Executive Staff of the State Board of Health.

As a merited reward for his vision and his zeal there came to Dr. Cooper as great a measure of recognition and honor as has come to any other Sampson County doctor. Among the many honors conferred upon him we list the following: President Sampson County Medical Society 1910; President North Carolina Public Health Association 1913; President Raleigh Academy of Medicine 1934; President North Carolina Conference for Social Science 1941; First President North Carolina Academy of Public Health 1942.

In 1942 the University of North Carolina signally honored him when it conferred upon this distinguished Sampsonian the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws with the following citation:

"George Marion Cooper of Sampson County, nationally distinguished as a public health officer, quiet and unassuming but relentlessly effective, he has as state health officer, served for a longer period and in more fields than any other person. He has been a leader in practical programs for the medical care of the poor, and has worked courageously to lift North Carolina from the disgrace of its high birth mortality of children and mothers. His work, pioneering in America, both for the improvement of the health of mothers and the birth of children, has become and will continue to be an example to this and other nations and a benefaction to this and succeeding generations."

Dr. John Fleet Cooper

1865 - 1907

- I. Born in Concord section of Sampson County.
Parents: John and Betty Neil Johnson Cooper
A descendant of the Reverend Fleet Cooper and an uncle of Dr. George Marion Cooper
- II. Graduate of Medical College of Baltimore
- III. Married Sallie Butler of Parkersburg.
One daughter: Mrs. M. Cooper Barbour, Roseboro.
- IV. Located at Roseboro where he practiced until his death in 1907. Because of scarcity of doctors and his professional skill, his practice extended into both Bladen and Cumberland Counties.
- V. Dr. Cooper not only practiced medicine but also served as dentist, as druggist, and as surgeon when the occasion demanded. He had a very extensive medical library which he used constantly in diagnosing diseases and prescribing treatments.

He was quite popular, and his death of cancer at forty-two was considered a community tragedy.

Dr. James H. Darden

1835 - 1905

- I. Born in Piney Grove Township.
Parents: Mr. and Mrs. William Darden
- II. Attended local schools and Jefferson Medical College in Philadelphia.

III. Married Sarah E. Bradshaw.

Children: James Darden
Henry Darden
Frank Darden
Mrs. Mary Darden Bell
Mrs. Minnie Darden Gavin
Mrs. Emma Darden Wells
Mrs. Maggie Darden Fitzgerald
Mrs. Dora Darden Harris

IV. Practiced at Giddensville.

V. In 1865 Dr. Darden, who had previously volunteered for service in the Civil War, was commissioned Assistant Surgeon in the 38th North Carolina Regiment.

He was a great lover of hunting and fishing.

Dr. Ollen Lee Denning

1862 - 1927

I. Born in Newton Grove.

Parents: James D. and Katherine Lee Denning (Mother a relative of General Robert E. Lee)

II. Educated at Bingham Military Academy in Asheville; Jefferson Medical College in Philadelphia (graduating in medicine and surgery in 1889); Polyclinic Hospital in New York (specializing in eye, ear, nose, throat, and dentistry).

III. Married Meda Lide McDaniel of Fayetteville.

Children: Mrs. N. M. Johnson, Dunn
Mrs. Robert Jernigan, Dunn
R. L. Denning, Plant City, Florida
L. K. Denning, Amelia, Virginia

IV. Practiced at Dunn, serving patients in Harnett, Sampson, and Cumberland Counties for almost forty years.

V. Starting his career with a splendid education and possessing a very alert and inquiring mind, Dr. Denning early learned to make the most of whatever equipment, knowledge, and medicines were available. Some of his operations performed under almost primitive conditions were written up in the medical journals of his day. He used treatments and drug combinations which possessed many of the qualities and reactions of present-day miracle drugs, although he didn't call them by their modern names.

Dr. Denning was a most versatile person. In addition to medicine, surgery, and dentistry, he was greatly interested in music, poetry, debating, swimming, a game of pool, and even read and taught law.

A colleague said of him, "Dr. O. L. Denning had a truly great and brilliant mind and a God-given talent."

Dr. Milton K. Devane

1822 - 1888

I. Born near Harrells Store in Sampson County.

Parents: John Canty and Annie S. Devane

III. Married Malcy Parrish of Taylor's Bridge.

An adopted daughter: Olive Herring (niece of Mrs. Devane).

IV. Dr. Devane practiced for several years at Harrells Store and later moved to Magnolia where he practiced until his death.

V. Dr. Devane was born in what is now known as the "Ole Melvin House," and while practicing at Harrells Store built the "Al Bowen House." He is buried at Magnolia.

Dr. William Devane Faison
Laura Murphy
Isham Roland Faison
John Miller Faison, Jr.
- IV. Practiced at Faison 1885-1915, serving many patients in Sampson.
- V. Dr. Faison's career as a physician was somewhat overshadowed by his political career which resulted in his election to Congress from the Third Congressional District for two terms, serving from 1911-1915. In Congress he rendered great service to the trucking industry in eastern North Carolina and sponsored legislation to carry on experiments to benefit agriculture.

In addition to carrying on his large and extensive medical practice and his later political career, Dr. Faison conducted a weekly paper known as the Faison Journal.

Dr. George M. Cooper says that "he was not only a first class physician but also a great humanitarian. He extended his sympathy and his professional skill to the sick and distressed on every hand."

Dr. Julius Faison

- I. Born in Sampson County.
Descended from the James Faison branch of the Faison family.
- III. Married a Miss Kerr who was the aunt of Dr. John D. Kerr of Clinton.

- IV. A physician at State Hospital in Goldsboro for forty-three years. From 1883 to 1906 he served as First Assistant Physician, and from 1906 to 1926 as head of the Institution.
- V. A distinguished alienist, he spent forty-three years in trying to improve the condition of the unfortunate Negro insane—he was definitely a pioneer in this field. A colleague says of his work, "A prosaic life but one entirely suited to a man of his mental habits and high ideals of service . . . as a result of his wisdom and industry the Goldsboro Institution holds high rank among its class. He was a friend whom it was an honor to call friend."

Dr. Claude Henry Fryar

- III. Married Mamie Lou White of Sampson County.
Children: Dr. J. D. Highsmith
Mrs. E. J. Wells
Mrs. Annie Campbell
Mrs. Louise Hardy
Dr. J. F. Highsmith, Jr., Myrtle Beach, South Carolina
Dr. William C. Highsmith, Fayetteville
Mrs. John Caldwell
Juanita Highsmith
- IV. Practiced surgery at Fayetteville almost fifty years (1889-1939).
- V. Dr. Highsmith was just twenty-one years old in 1889 when he went to Fayetteville to begin practicing surgery in an atmosphere of suspicion, prejudice, and distrust. People were not accustomed to surgery or to hospitals, which were openly called slaughter-houses and butcher pens. First of all, he had to conquer this spirit of prejudice and even then he was greatly hampered by lack of equipment, suitable operating rooms, and a place for patients to convalesce. In less than ten years, however, he and an associate, Dr. J. H. Marsh, were able to open a small hospital in Fayetteville which was the first private hospital in North Carolina.

Twenty-five years of constant struggle, of visions and dreams, of visiting various clinics to learn new methods and new techniques, then Dr. Highsmith and his oldest son, Dr. J. D. Highsmith, were to move from the small plant on Green Street to the top of Haymount Hill into a $475,000.00 structure which was the last word in hospital design and construction. It stands, and will stand, as a monument to a great humanitarian who, as a practical business man, tried to make his hospital pay its way, but whose first rule was not to turn away patients because of financial difficulties. Ben Dixon MacNeill is authority for the statement that in the years between 1901 and 1939, Highsmith's Hospital cared for forty-seven thousand three hundred and eleven patients of whom fifty-nine percent were treated without compensation.

Dr. Seavy Highsmith

1874 - 1943

- I. Born in Sampson County.
Parents: Robert and Elizabeth Carroll Highsmith
Brothers: Dr. G. Frank Highsmith, Arcadia, Florida
Dr. John Highsmith, Arcadia, Florida
Dr. Charles Highsmith, Sr., Dunn
Nephews: Dr. George P. Highsmith of Thomasville
Dr. Charles Highsmith, Jr. of Troy
- II. Medical College of Virginia, Class of 1901
- III. Married Ethel Johnson of Robeson County.
Children: Mrs. D. T. Perry, Jr., Fayetteville
Seavy Highsmith, Jr.
- IV. Practiced in Fayetteville for forty-one years, associated at one time with Highsmith Hospital, and for another period with Cumberland General Hospital; but the majority of the time was spent in general practice, which he preferred.
- V. For almost half a century Dr. Highsmith was a leader in the medical profession and in the civic and religious life of Fayetteville. During these years he endeared himself to people in all walks of life because of his skill as a physician and his humanitarian traits.

Dr. John H. Hill

- I. Birthplace and parents unknown.
- II. Medical school unknown.
- III. Married Mary Ann Holmes.
One son — Dr. John Hampden Hill
- IV. Records show that in 1831 Dr. Hill was living on a plantation in North Clinton Township, and that in 1835 he had moved to New Hanover County.

Dr. John Hampden Hill

1834 - 1910

- I. Born in Wilmington.
Parents: Dr. John and Ann Holmes Hill
- II. Record of education not available.

- II. Attended Wake Forest College. "Read medicine" under Dr. Henry A. Bizzell of Clinton, and then attended University of Pennsylvania Medical School (Class of 1858).
- III. Married Ann Darden, daughter of Joseph Darden.
One son: Samuel Huntington Hobbs of Raleigh
- IV. Practiced in Sampson County.
- V. Dr. Hobbs' son recalls hearing him say that he wrote his thesis on typhoid fever, and recalls also that he was considered a specialist in treating typhoid fever cases.

Dr. Robert Henry Holliday

1847 - 1908

- I. Born at Preston, England.
Parents: Robert William and Mary Woods Holliday
Grandson: Dr. Tobert Henry Holliday of Thomasville
- II. Educated at private schools in Preston and Devonshire, England, and at University of Edinburgh, Scotland. Completed medical education after coming to America by studying with Dr. Seavey of Wilmington.

- III. Married Delia Fisher of Bladen County.
Children: Mrs. Robert Gibbs Morrissey
Robert William Holliday
John Claudius Holliday
Dr. Fulton Raeford Holliday
- IV. Began his practice in Salemburg, moving to Clinton after one year. Owned and operated a drugstore on Wall Street in Clinton.
- V. Dr. George Marion Cooper wrote, "Dr. Holliday was an Englishman who volunteered as a surgeon in the Confederate Army and after the close of the war practiced medicine in Sampson County for many years. He was a man who did more to encourage the young physicians of Sampson County in the beginning of their work than any other man of whom I have any knowledge, and for that reason he definitely deserves a place in this record."

Dr. E. T. Hollingsworth

1886 - 1934

- I. Born in Hobbton in Sampson County.
Parents: James and Almira Jones Hollingsworth
- II. Graduate of North Carolina Medical College, Charlotte.
- III. Married Patricia Nicholson, Charlotte.
One child—died at age of one year.
Second wife was Geneva Sikes, St. Paul.
- IV. Practice: Sampson County Health Officer 1917-1928
Member of Staff of a Goldsboro Hospital 1928-1934.

Dr. Allmand Holmes

1831 - 1898

- I. Born in Clinton.
Parents: Richard Clinton and Isabella Hall Holmes
- II. Educated in private schools; Clinton Male Academy; University of Pennsylvania 1852. Had previously "read medicine" with Dr. W. G. Micks.
- III. Married Frances Sellers.
Children: John Holmes of Wilmington
Allmand Holmes
Elizabeth (Bessie) Hubbard
Willie (Billy Boy) Holmes
Dr. Frank H. Holmes of Clinton

- IV. Practiced in Clinton — physician and surgeon. Joined by son, Dr. Frank H. Holmes in 1895.

- V. Dr. Holmes was especially distinguished as a surgeon. According to the late Dr. W. H. Whitehead of Rocky Mount, he reported the first successful removal of an ovarian tumor in North Carolina. The operation was done at Clinton on February 25, 1882. On May 16, 1883, at the meeting of the State Medical Society in Tarboro, Dr. Holmes formally reported the account of the operation in a classical paper under the title of "Successful Removal and Recovery of a Multicocular Encysted Ovarian Tumor."

Dr. George M. Cooper says that he was a "gentleman of the old school who thought modesty was an active virtue and therefore never sought elective office in the State Society, although he held numerous committee assignments."

Dr. Frank Huske Holmes

1870 - 1915

- I. Born in Clinton.
Parents: Dr. Allmand and Frances Sellers Holmes
- II. Educated in private schools; Clinton Male Academy; University of North Carolina; University of Maryland, graduating in 1895.
- III. Married Sallie Lee McKinnon, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Luther McKinnon.
One son: Frank Huske Holmes, Jr. (died at nine months of age)
- IV. As soon as he was licensed to practice, Dr. Holmes went into partnership with his father, Dr. Allmand Holmes, in Clinton and practiced at Clinton until his death.
- V. Dr. Holmes served as President of Sampson County Medical Society; fellow of American Medical Association; and member of I. O. O. F. Dr. Holmes was also Major-Surgeon of the State Guard for two terms, being appointed by Governor Aycock and also by Governor Glenn.

Socially, Dr. Holmes was very popular, and as a most eligible bachelor was in great demand for the parties, sociables, and excursions of that period. His name appears frequently in lists of those taking parts in weddings. Careful readers of old newspapers can detect a growing tendency on his part to be present when Miss Sallie Lee McKinnon was also to be a guest!

During his years of practice Dr. Holmes endeared himself to his patients by his kindness, consideration and keen interest in the welfare of every patient.

Dr. Hardy Holmes

1804 - 1847

- I. Born in Sampson County.
Parents: Owen and Ann Clinton Holmes
- II. Attended University of North Carolina, graduating in 1824. Medical College not known.
- III. Married Julia Bray.
- IV. Left Sampson and went to New Orleans, Louisiana, where the majority of his practice was done, and where he lived until his death.

Dr. William Houston

- I. Born in London (not authenticated).
- II. Educated in London (not authenticated).
(Some of Dr. Houston's descendants believe that he was born and educated in North Ireland.)
- III. Married Ann Jones of Bladen County.
Children: William Houston
Henry Houston
Edward Houston
Griffith Houston
Mrs. William Hubbard
- IV. Located at Sarecta on North East River in what was then New Hanover (now Duplin) County. From here he practiced over a very large territory for over forty years, traveling on foot, by horseback, and by boat.
- V. Dr. Houston first appears in the records of Duplin County in 1736 and seems to have given a large part of his time to political activity and public affairs in spite of the fact that his medical practice covered such an extensive area. He was land agent for Henry McCulloch, handling the vast estates granted McCulloch by the British Crown, and was instrumental in the creation of Duplin County. He also served as a member of the Colonial Assembly and was chairman of the County Court of Duplin County and was appointed Stamp Master for North Carolina by the British Crown. However, because of the unpopularity of the law, Dr. Houston quickly resigned as Stamp Master.

His was indeed a busy life, and he ranks as one of Duplin County's most substantial citizens.

(This record of Dr. Houston is included because Sampson was still part of Duplin County until 1784, and it is generally accepted that he was the first doctor of whom we have any authentic record to have practiced in what is now Sampson County.)

Dr. William Hudson

- I. Born in Sampson County.
- IV. Sometime after 1865 Dr. Hudson located at Spivey's Corner and practiced there until his death.
- V. Available records show that Dr. Hudson's family migrated to Texas when he was a small child, and that he grew up in Texas and lived there until after his marriage. It was then that he returned to his native North Carolina and Sampson County.

Dr. Bayard Cleveland Johnson

1886 - 1942

- I. Born at Ingold.
Parents: Cicero Howard and Eugenia Robinson Johnson
- II. University of North Carolina 1909

James Kerr
Nell Williams Kerr
Elizabeth Kerr Corbett
Annie Belle Kerr Culbreth

Katherine Shaw Kerr
Charles Heman Kerr

- IV. After graduation Dr. Kerr settled on the original "Punch Bowl" Kerr Plantation and practiced in lower Sampson for forty years.
- V. John A. Oates of Fayetteville writes, "No man who lived in lower Sampson was more affectionately loved than Dr. Kerr. Truly, it might be said of him that he practiced medicine not for money, but for the love of his fellow man. A monument erected by free will offerings in dimes and dollars from his neighbors, whites and Negroes, rich and poor, as a testimonial of their love and esteem stands in the public road at Kerr Station and bears the inscription: Charles Stevens Kerr, M. D. Born July 9, 1845; Died March 6, 1910. Honor Virtutis Praemium. Physician, Philanthropist, Patriot, Christian."
- Dr. G. M. Cooper said that "Dr. Kerr, when able to travel, never refused a call and that the above-mentioned monument represents the only such voluntary tribute to a family doctor in the entire State of North Carolina."

Dr. John Daniel Kerr II

1884 - 1938

- I. Born in Sampson County, at the old Kerr home on Black River. Parents: Col. John Daniel, Sr., and Sudie Hubbard Kerr.
- II. Graduated at University of North Carolina 1903; University of Maryland 1906; interned at James Walker Memorial Hospital in Wilmington 1906-1908.
- III. Married Lovic Pigford 1910.
Children: Mrs. Forrest Crumpler, Hollywood, Florida
John D. Kerr III (deceased)
Wyatt Kerr, Ft. Worth, Texas
Lovic Kerr Searle, Aiken, South Carolina
Ferdinand Kerr, Clinton
Ruth Kerr, Raleigh
- IV. Practiced at Clinton for thirty years, 1908-1938, except during periods of military service. Served as Health Officer of Sampson County 1928-1932.
- V. Dr. Kerr's first connection with the army was as First Lieutenant of the Medical Corps of the North Carolina National Guard. His Regiment served on the Mexican Border and was later mustered into the regular army as a part of the famous 30th Division. After service overseas, he was honorably discharged in 1919 but in 1924 Dr. Kerr was appointed Lieutenant Colonel of the Medical Corps of the North Carolina National Guard and was still serving in this capacity when he was fatally injured in an automobile accident as he was returning from Wilmington where he had been for an inspection of his unit.

Regarding his civilian practice, a friend says, "In the thirty years of his practice, he was never known to keep an account or send a bill to any patient. He looked upon his patients as his friends and depended upon them to supply the needs for himself and his family."

1834 - 1901

- I. Born on plantation southeast of Clinton.
Parents: William and Elizabeth Cromartie Kirby
- II. Attended Spring Vale Academy. Was prepared for college by the famous school master, John Ghost Elliott. Studied medicine at Medical College of the University of New York (class of 1859) and in Paris.
- III. Married Mary C. Green.
Children: Dr. George Kirby, Jr., a distinguished psychiatrist of New York
Mrs. Laura Spicer, Goldsboro
Mrs. Ed Borden, Goldsboro
Mrs. Robinson, Goldsboro
Mrs. Crawford, Goldsboro
Mrs. C. E. Wilkins
- IV. Dr. Kirby served in the Medical Corps of the Confederate Army, being first commissioned as a surgeon and then as a brigadier surgeon. After the war he settled in Goldsboro where he practiced for several years, and then he moved to Raleigh where he became superintendent of the State Hospital.
- V. A competent alienist, Dr. Kirby's term of office as head of the State Hospital was characterized by efficiency and broad humanitarianism. He was greatly beloved by his unfortunate patients.

Dr. Kirby served for six years as a member of the State Board of Medical Examiners.

Dr. Algernon Moseley Lee

1839 - 1924

- I. Born in Clinton.

Parents: Thomas M. and Sarah Moseley Lee

- II. Matriculated with Class of 1861 of University of North Carolina. Graduated from Medical College of Virginia in 1862.
- III. Married Annie Boykin of Virginia.
Children: Dr. E. G. Lee (dentist), Clinton
Dr. Elliot Lee, Clinton and Lincolnton
T. M. Lee, Clinton
Mrs. George E. Butler, Clinton
Mrs. L. C. Kerr, Clinton
Mrs. A. McLean Graham, Clinton
- IV. During part of Civil War, Dr. Lee served in the Confederate Hospitals in Richmond under Dr. Hunter McGuire, who was commissioned Surgeon General. After the war he opened office at Clinton, practicing both medicine and dentistry; but his medical practice became so extensive that he devoted all his time to it.
- V. It may be said of Dr. Lee that he engaged in the active practice of medicine longer than any other man ever to have lived in the county, and no man had a wider circle of friends or was more beloved than he. Dr. G. M. Cooper of Raleigh said of Dr. Lee, "He was a typical old school southern country doctor. Children loved him, women adored him, and men respected him. He was never so happy as when ministering to the suffering of a fellow human being . . . sixty-two years of daily intimate personal service as family physician and friend. What a wonderful record to present to the Recording Angel!"

Dr. Richard Elliott Lee

1874 - 1934

- I. Born at Clinton.
Parents: Dr. Algernon Moseley and Annie Boykin Lee
Brother: Dr. E. G. Lee of Clinton, a dentist
- II. Attended Horner Military Academy; graduated from University of North Carolina in pharmacy, and from University of Maryland in medicine in 1897. Did postgraduate work at New York Post Graduate Hospital.
- III. Married Annie Kerr of Clinton.
Children: Mrs. Charlie Raper Jones, Lincolnton
Margaret Lee, Lincolnton
- IV. Practiced at Clinton 1900-1907; Goldsboro 1907-1915; Clinton 1915-1917; Black Mountain 1917-1918; Lincolnton 1918-1934.
- V. Before beginning general practice, Dr. Lee entered military service, and during the Spanish-American War served with honor and distinction as Lieutenant Surgeon in Cuba.

Dr. Lee was definitely one of the large group of physicians whose interest is in service to humanity rather than in storing up wealth for his own use. Shortly after his death, a fellow physician paid him this moving tribute: "Dr. Lee was the most unselfish doctor I ever knew."

Dr. S. P. J. Lee

1873 - 1937

- I. Born at Newton Grove.
Parents: Marshal and Elizabeth Tart Lee
Brother: Dr. J. Marshall Lee of Newton Grove

- II. Graduated University College of Medicine of Richmond 1897.
- III. Married Katie Florence Peterson, Clinton.
Children: Kathleen Matthews Carter, Salemburg
James Hunter Matthews, Fayetteville
Married Myrl Herring, Rose Hill, in 1933.
- IV. Practiced one year at Salemburg, returning to Taylor's Bridge in 1897 and practicing there for approximately forty-five years.
- V. Dr. Matthews was a direct lineal descendant of Edmond Matthews (Welsh emigrant and nephew of Governor Matthews of Virginia) who settled on Crane Creek in Taylor's Bridge Township in the 1740's.

Understanding the needs of his section, he played an active role in movements to secure better roads; telephone and electric service; improved school facilities and other plans to improve the cultural and economic life of his community. He was actively interested in politics, being elected to the State Senate in 1908.

On the personal side he was an avid reader; competent amateur photographer; fair violinist; expert mechanic; hunter, fisherman and lover of guns. An authenticated story tells how his frightened mother found him at the age of five trying to drag a loaded shotgun over a rail fence to "shoot a hawk." And though his interest in hawks and rail fences waned with the years, his love for all types of guns and pistols remained his main hobby.

A friend wrote at the time of Dr. Matthews' death, "He will be greatly missed in lower Sampson as physician, neighbor, friend and gentleman."

- IV. Dr. Maynard began his practice at Apex; moved to Wadesboro; moved to Morven; and in 1905 came to Harrells Store, in Sampson County, with the intention of retiring from active practice because of ill health. However, because of the scarcity of doctors he did some practice after moving to Sampson.
- V. Dr. Maynard was also a teacher and taught in Sampson County schools. He will be longest remembered, however, as the father of Belvin W. Maynard, better known as "The Flying Parson," whose spectacular but tragic career flashed briefly across our skies and our headlines in the days immediately following the First World War. Dr. Maynard endowed the Belvin W. Maynard F. F. A. Chapter at Franklin High School in memory of his aviator son.

- V. Dr. Henry L. Monk was the youngest of the three Monk brothers who were medical doctors. He was a charter member of the Salisbury Kiwanis Club, the Rowan-Davie Medical Society, the Old Hickory Club, the Elks, and of the Roman Catholic Church.

Dr. John Carr Monk

1827 - 1877

- I. Born at Newton Grove.
Parents: Archibald and Harriett Hargrove Monk
Brother-in-law: Dr. James H. Benton of Newton Grove
Sons-in-law: Dr. Robert West of Salisbury
Dr. George Caton of New Bern
Nephews: Dr. Claude Benton, New Bern
Dr. Harvey G. Monk, Trenton
Dr. George M. Monk, Southport
Dr. Henry L. Monk, Sr., Salisbury
Dr. Henry L. Monk, Jr., Durham
Dr. Archie Monk, Sr., Goldsboro
Dr. Archie Monk, Jr., Ahoskie

- III. Married Euphemia Eason, daughter of Col. John Eason of Johnston County.
Children: Anna Monk Underwood, Newton Grove
Flora Monk West, Salisbury
Katie Monk Caton, New Bern
- IV. Practiced at Newton Grove.
- V. Dr. John Carr Monk was the best known and most influential of the members of the Monk family who, according to tradition, were descendants of General George Monk, the First Duke of Albemarle.

Dr. Monk was a man of strong convictions and the courage to stand by them openly. He and his family were avowed Republicans in a period when few other Southerners would have admitted it; and he and his family joined the Roman Catholic Church when there were no others of that faith in his section. His conversion was the result of a prolonged correspondence between himself and Bishop (later Cardinal) Gibbons of Wilmington. Dr. Monk and his family went to Wilmington to be baptized by Bishop Gibbons. Other relatives also became Catholics; and Dr. Monk, himself donated the land on which the Catholic Church and the parochial school stand.

Dr. Monk also operated a drug store and the post office—and was responsible for the name of Newton Grove being given to the village.

Dr. Monk was very much interested in increasing the number of doctors in Sampson County and persuaded several members of his family to study medicine, even paying for the medical education of his brother-in-law, Dr. James H. Benton.

He had the honor of serving on the first Board of Trustees of the University of North Carolina under the Constitution of 1868.

Dr. Alexander Duncan Moore

1825 - 1894

- I. Born in Wilson County.
- III. Married Martha Sullivan of Kenansville.
One adopted daughter: Lilly Moore Darden of Clinton.
- IV. Practiced in Wilson, moving to Clinton in the 1880's and practicing there until his death.
- V. Lived in what is known as the Henry Darden house in Clinton.

Dr. Samuel Bunting Morisey

1829 - 1883

- I. Born in Turkey Township.
Parents: Col. Thomis Kenan and Penelope Bunting Morisey.
- II. Attended University of North Carolina, 1847-48. Was a Freshman Competitor in the annual Declamation Contest at Commencement 1848.
- III. Unmarried.
- IV. Practiced first in Robeson County, and after close of Civil War, he returned to his plantation in Turkey Township where he practiced until his death.

- V. During the period of the Civil War he was commissioned Surgeon in the 51st North Carolina Regiment of the Confederate Army on May 1, 1862.

Dr. George W. Moseley

1829 - 1892

- I. Born near Clinton.
Parents: Jonathan and Dorcas Garland Moseley
- II. Graduate of Medical College of University of Pennsylvania
- III. Married Martha Matthews of Taylor's Bridge.
- IV. After his marriage he settled on a plantation near Red Hill Church in Taylor's Bridge Township on what is still called "Moseley Avenue." He practiced there until his death.
- V. Dr. Moseley was a nephew of William D. Moseley, the first governor of Florida. He is considered directly responsible for influencing at least two other men to study medicine. One of these was his cousin, Dr. William Isaiah Thompson, to whom he gave direct assistance by allowing him to begin "reading medicine" with him; and the other was the late Dr. James O. Matthews who was a nephew of Mrs. Moseley and who took over Dr. Moseley's practice about five years after his death.

A copy of Dr. Moseley's diploma, written entirely in Latin, is still in existence. It states that the "Praefectus, Vice-Praefectus et Professores Univerfitatus Pennfylvanientis" confer upon "Georgium W. Moseley" the degree of "Doctorem in Arte Medica . . . Datum Philadelphiae Die ante Cal. Apr. sexto decimo Annoque - Salutis humana, Millesimo Octingentesimo et unde sexagesimo."

Dr. Cornelius Tate Murphy

1827 - 1882

- I. Born in Northern New Hanover (now Pender).
Parents: Cornelius and Margaret Henry Murphy
- II. Graduate of Jefferson Medical College
- III. Married his cousin, Ann Murphy.
Children: Edgar Poe Murphy
James Tate Murphy
- IV. Practiced in Taylors Bridge Township, living on Chicken Bone Creek—later moved to Clinton where he lived until his death.

- V. Dr. G. M. Cooper in writing of Dr. Murphy said, "His service to his state was probably as distinguished and as important in a threefold capacity as that of any physician in North Carolina living during the last half of the 19th century.

First, he was a successful practitioner of medicine.

Second, he was an influential member of the State Senate for two terms in an epochal period—1870-1872.

Third, he was Chairman of the State Board of Charities and Correction."

Dr. Murphy helped organize and legalize the State Board of Medical Examiners (he served as a member of the Board from 1872-1878). He was also instrumental in the creation of the State Board of Charities and Correction (he served for seven years as chairman) and the State Board of Health. He served one term as Vice-President of the North Carolina Medical Society.

Dr. Murphy practiced the humanitarianism he believed, and did a large amount of charity practice. On his tomb in the Clinton cemetery is inscribed the single line, "A poor man's friend."

Dr. Partrick Livingstone Murphy

1848 - 1907

- I. Born at "Cuwhiffle Plantation" in Taylors Bridge Township.
Parents: Patrick and Eliza Faison Murphy
- II. Educated at Military Academy at Hillsboro; Bingham's School, Oxford; University of Virginia; Medical College of University of Maryland, Class of 1871.
- III. Married Bettie Bumgardner, Staunton, Virginia.
Children: Dr. William Alexander Murphy
Dr. James B. Murphy
Robert Livingstone Murphy
Malinda Murphy, who served as a nurse in First World War
- IV. Assistant physician at Western Insane Asylum of Virginia for three years; founder and first superintendent of North Carolina State Hospital at Morganton where he served for twenty-four years.
- V. During his superintendency at Morganton, Dr. Murphy gained a national reputation and was a prominent member of the Medico-Psychological Association. He served for six years as a member of the State Board of Medical Examiners and as president of the State Medical Society in 1897. He was a member of Board of Trustees of University of North Carolina 1889-1897.

After his death the State Society presented his portrait to the State Library in Raleigh and a bronze tablet in his memory to the hospital at Morganton. Dr. J. K. Hall, a noted psychiatrist of Richmond, Virginia, complimented Dr. Murphy with these words: "He possessed attributes of greatness which he transmuted into statesmanship of a high order in mental hygiene in North Carolina."

Dr. William Bailey Murphy, Jr.

1877 - 1937

- I. Born in Wilmington (at home of his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. I. T. Alderman).
Parents: Dr. William Bailey and Marianna Alderman Murphy of Tomahawk
- II. Attended local Sampson County Schools; Presbyterian High School, Rock Hill, South Carolina; Davidson College; University College of Medicine, Richmond. Did post-graduate work at Post Graduate Hospital in New York.
- III. Married Mary Colvin Atkinson.
One daughter: Mary Colvin Murphy Griffin of Tokyo, Japan
- IV. Began practice at Snow Hill in 1904 and in the same year was elected County Physician for Greene County, serving in that capacity until his death.
- V. At the time of Dr. Murphy's election as County Physician a small-pox epidemic was raging and he was faced with the problem of educating the people to accept vaccination. He was so successful in this that at the time of his death Greene County was said to be the most thoroughly vaccinated county in the state . . . not only against smallpox but against other diseases as well.

Dr. Murphy served as first Vice-President of the North Carolina Medical Society in 1929-30; member of Board of Directors of the Hospital for Insane of Goldsboro.

The esteem in which Dr. Murphy was held by all classes of people was evidenced by the fact that the Governor of North Carolina served as an honorary pallbearer at his funeral while a seven-year-old Negro girl brought a handful of short-stemmed verbenas to place on his grave.

Dr. John Owen

1790 - 1859

- I. Born near Roseboro—Andrew's Chapel section.

Parents: Thomas and Sarah Parker Owen
Adopted by Nichols and Elizabeth Owen Parker.
Great-grandson: Dr. John F. Owen, Raleigh

- II. School unknown.
- III. Married Sallie Blake of Fayetteville.
Children: Miles P. Owen.
William T. Owen
Thomas I. Owen
Edmund B. Owen
Benson S. Owen
Mary Williams Owen
Martha Owen
Sarah Smith Owen
- IV. Practiced in a thirty-mile area in Sampson County, living five miles below Roseboro on Little Coharie Creek. Practiced between forty and fifty years.
- V. Dr. Owen's family reportedly came from England with some of his family claiming direct descent from royalty. He was not only a doctor but also a Methodist preacher, and it is said that he delivered many of the babies and married many of the couples whose descendants populate Sampson County today.

Dr. Owen is perhaps best remembered for the unique "speedometer" that he invented to tell the number of miles he traveled in order to reach his parents, and he then charged them accordingly. His device worked in this way: He first measured the distance his gig traveled with one revolution of the wheel and then figured how many times the wheel turned in going one mile. He then attached a device to the wheel which clocked its revolutions, and when the gig had traveled a mile a bell would ring. In this way he could keep track of how many miles he traveled on a call.

So, Dr. Owen was not only a physician and minister, but also an inventor!

Dr. Boney Wells Page

1880 -

- I. Born near Wells Chapel Church, in lower Sampson.
Parents: John Everett and Mary Ellen Wells Page
- IV. Practiced in Clinton; served as Public Health Officer in Robeson County; practiced in Wilmington; practiced in Trenton where he died suddenly several years ago.
- V. While doing public health work in Robeson County Dr. Page did extensive research on pellagra—helping to establish the fact that it is a diet deficiency disease.

Dr. James Robinson Parker

1875 - 1944

- I. Born at Menola (Northampton County).
Parents: S. F. and Henrietta Pierce Parker
- II. Graduate of Wake Forest College and of University of Maryland Medical School
- III. Married Mary Ira Perry of Belvidere.
One daughter: Mrs. Mable Parker Colwell of Clinton
- IV. Practiced at Cisco (Chowan County); Gatesville; Clinton 1918-1927; Norfolk, Virginia, 1927-1944.
- V. Dr. Parker was a lifelong member of the Baptist Church; an active Mason, both York and Scottish rites; and a Shriner.

Dr. James Addison Patterson

? - 1878

- I. Born Gretna Green, Scotland.
Parents: Dr. and Mrs. George Patterson (Dr. Patterson was head of Edinburgh Medical College).
- II. Graduated at Edinburgh Medical College sometime after 1830.
- III. Married Susie Brown.
Children: John Robert Patterson
Henry Patterson
Mattie Patterson
- IV. Dr. Patterson came to the United States between 1859 and 1865 and served in Confederate Hospitals. After the war ended and after his marriage, he settled near Roseboro where he practiced until his death in 1878.
- V. Dr. Patterson first came to the United States as a boy of seventeen years of age to work in his brother's silk mill in Philadelphia. After the mill was burned, he returned to Scotland to study medicine and then returned to this country during the Civil War years. He is believed to have crossed the ocean seven times and was planning a visit to Scotland when he became critically ill and died rather suddenly.

His granddaughter tells this story of his being called one night to visit a patient who was seriously ill with diphtheria. Dr. Patterson was drinking rather heavily but he managed to make the call, travelling on horseback and carrying his accordion. He sat by the bedside all night playing the accordion to keep himself awake, and the next morning he discovered his patient was so greatly improved as to be out of danger. Music therapy is not really new!!

Dr. Lucian Whitfield Robinson

1838 - 1899

- I. Born near Ingold in Sampson County.
Parents: James and Eleanor Cathrine Cromartie Robinson
- II. Attended V. C. Institute at Portsmouth, Virginia, and graduated from Jefferson Medical College of Philadelphia.
- III. Married Mary Ellen Stokes, Magnolia.

Meigs Robinson, Norfolk, Virginia
Bettie Robinson Newkirk (a twin who died in infancy)
Luke Robinson, Savannah, Georgia
Married Dorothy Anne Boney
Children: Mary Robinson Wells, Wallace
Margaret Robinson McGee, Snow Hill
Gabriel Robinson, Wallace
- IV. Dr. Robinson lived in the Concord Baptist Church community of Duplin County, practicing in both Duplin and Sampson Counties. His post office was "Natural Wells" (now Magnolia).
- V. He took part in the Civil War, being stationed at Danville, Virginia, and vicinity throughout 1864.

Dr. Jeremiah Seavy

1815 - 1881

- I. Born in Rochester, New Hampshire.
Son of an Episcopal minister
- II. Graduated at Medical College of Philadelphia at eighteen years of age.
- III. Married Ann Julia Newkirk of Black River.
Children: Mary Seavy
Eugenia Seavy Moore
Jeremiah Seavy, Jr.
Hannah Seavy
- IV. From the Newkirk Plantation on Black River, Dr. Seavy practiced over a vast area extending from Wilmington to Raleigh, Fayetteville, and Kinston.

- V. Because he could not practice in New Hampshire until he was twenty-one of age, Dr. Seavy decided to emigrate to South America but was shipwrecked off Cape Hatteras and landed at Wilmington. He was employed by a wealthy Mr. Newkirk who carried him to his plantation on Black River. Here he taught school for two years, married his benefactor's daughter; and when his medical training was discovered, he was given a surry, horses, a slave, medicine, and simple surgical equipment and thus equipped began his long career as a doctor, practicing over a large part of Eastern North Carolina. He often used the old circuit rider relay horseback riding plan, sometimes using as many as six horses on one call.

In 1842 Dr. and Mrs. Seavy built a beautiful plantation mansion among the moss-covered trees near Black River. A japonica bush given them as a wedding gift has grown through the years until it holds the unique distinction of being the largest japonica tree in the world. The old home, one of the few-remaining, early nineteenth-century mansions is now owned by Miss Mary Moore, a granddaughter of Dr. Seavy.

Dr. Edwin Tate Sessoms

1885 - 1948

- I. Born at Roseboro.
Parents: Uriah and Frances Fowler Sessoms
- II. Educated in local schools; North Carolina Medical College, Charlotte; and Medical College of Virginia (Class of 1915).
- III. Married Lillian Howard of Roseboro.
Children: Dr. Stuart McGuire Sessoms of Bethesda, Maryland
Dorothy Frances Hunnicutt, Wilson
E. T. Sessoms, Jr., Tallahassee, Florida
- IV. Practice: Lumber Bridge 1915
Sampson County: Turkey, Mingo, Autryville, and Roseboro 1916-1948.
- V. Dr. Sessoms was originally a farmer, then a rural mail carrier, and a school teacher before deciding to study medicine. He returned to his home county one year after his graduation and practiced there until his death. A person who knew Dr. Sessoms well says that he was an unpretentious person who wanted no public acclaim but that he was extremely generous in his aid to the unfortunate.

Mrs. Sessoms relates this little incident as illustrative of his quick wit and pleasant good humor. A group of friends were teasing him about being a "tight-wad" and he promptly retorted, "Yes, I often shave myself twice a day so I can save twenty cents instead of just ten."!

Dr. Sessoms was a member of the Junior Order United American Mechanics. Coroner of Sampson County for two years.

Dr. Colin Shaw

1890 - 1948

- I. Born at Harrells Store.
Parents: Dr. Neil Graham and Rosa Fennell Shaw

- V. Dr. Shaw was the youngest member of his graduating class at Davidson Medical College (twenty years of age).

Dr. Elias Faison Shaw

1822 - 1865

- I. Born in Cumberland County.
Parents: John and Frances Faison Shaw
- II. Attended schools in Fayetteville and graduated from Jefferson Medical College in Philadelphia.
- III. Married his cousin, Arabella Faison.
Children: Eugene Shaw
Faison Shaw, Tucson, Arizona
Mrs. Inez Thomson
Mrs. John Holmes
- IV. From his marriage in 1847 until the Civil War, Dr. Shaw lived on a plantation in Turkey Township where he practiced medicine and surgery in addition to managing his plantation interests.
- V. In 1862, although he was exempt from military service, Dr. Shaw organized and was elected Captain of a company of cavalry which was mounted at the barn of his brother-in-law, William A. Faison. Captain Shaw's Company became Company "C" of the 5th

Cavalry. He was a brave soldier and was rapidly promoted to Lieutenant Colonel. After having seen service in both eastern Carolina and northern Virginia, he was slain at the Battle of Chamberlain Run in Virginia on March 31, 1865. Colonel Shaw had been decorated for bravery following the Battle of Chancellorsville.

Dr. Neil Graham Shaw

- I. Born in Bladen County (not authenticated)
Parents: The Reverend Colin and Phoebe Bannerman Shaw
Brother-in-law: Dr. Charles Stevens Kerr
- II. Davidson College
University of Maryland

Dr. Gipson L. Sikes

1871 - 1957

- I. Born in Sampson County near Salemburg. Died in Raleigh 1957.

Parents: Daniel and Appey Eliza Lewis Sikes

- II. Attended High School at Salemburg; Medical College of University of North Carolina; Medical College of Virginia at Richmond.
- III. Married Ida Bullard in 1900. Died 1930.
Children: Mrs. Homer Starling, Raleigh
Lambert Elon Sikes, Washington State
Elliott Lee Sikes (deceased)
Married Margaret McCloud of Cameron 1940. Died 1955.
- IV. General practitioner for thirty years at Salemburg 1900-1930.
Made special study of and practiced electro-therapy in connection with general practice. Retired from active practice because of injuries received in automobile accident.
- V. For many years Dr. Sikes was one of the leading citizens of Salemburg. He was particularly interested in the growth and development of Pineland College and greatly concerned with the religious life and church affairs of his home town and other progressive movements as well as keeping up with new medical discoveries.

He was for many years Physician to Pineland College System of Schools, donating his fees along with other gifts to the school; each year assumed financial responsibility for a number of needy students; served as chairman of Board of Trustees of Pineland System of Schools; was chairman of Board of Deacons of Salemburg Baptist Church for a long period; and served as an honorary deacon.

A friend of long standing recalls that when a death occurred in the community, it was Dr. Sikes's custom not only to call to express his sympathy but also to render any medical service that might be needed through his love of service to humanity.

Dr. David Dickson Sloan

1821 - 1876

- I. Born in Sampson County.
Parents: Dickson and Catherine Bryan Sloan
- II. Graduated from College of Medicine, State of South Carolina in 1844.
- III. Married Harriett Cromartie.
Children: Dr. Henry Sloan of Ingold
Kate Sloan Graham of Chapel Hill
Grandsons: Dr. Frank P. Graham of Chapel Hill
Dr. Henry Lee Sloan of Charlotte
Dr. David D. Sloan, Jr., of Wilmington

- IV. Dr. Sloan settled on South River near Garland and practiced in both Sampson and Bladen Counties for about thirty years.
- V. Dr. Sloan was the son of Dickson Sloan who served Sampson County in the State House of Representatives and Senate for ten successive terms. He lived during the Civil War Period, and his grandson, Dr. Henry L. Sloan, of Charlotte, says that he was opposed to the Civil War from the standpoint of principle because he thought that war never really settled anything; but of course his sympathies and support were on the Confederate side.

Professor Alexander Graham of Charlotte and Dr. George M. Cooper of Raleigh are authorities for the statement that Dr. Sloan was the first surgeon in this section to do a successful Caesarian section twice on the same woman.

Dr. Henry Sloan

1853 - 1919

- I. Born in Garland.
Parents: Dr. David Dickson and Harriett Cromartie Sloan
- II. Educated in local schools: Davidson College; University of North Carolina; Charleston Medical College.
- III. Married Catherine Boykin.
Children: Dr. Henry L. Sloan, Charlotte
Dr. David D. Sloan, Wilmington
Jane Sloan (died in infancy)
- IV. Practiced at Ingold.
- V. Dr. Henry L. Sloan of Charlotte writes regarding his father, "He was noted for being punctual in all his appointments. He emphasized this to such point that now punctuality is second nature of mine. He was a strict disciplinarian of the old school . . . he made great sacrifice to put my brother and me through college . . . and we are very grateful to him for his insisting that we finish college before we entered medical school. Father was like a typical country doctor. He would go anytime, day or night, and he did not insist upon payment for his professional services."

Dr. John Alexander Stevens

1859 - 1918

- I. Born in Sampson County.
Parents: James H. and Serena F. Oates Stevens.
- II. Educated at Bingham Military School; Randolph Macon College; Jefferson Medical College of Philadelphia.
- III. Married Lucy Herring, daughter of Dr. M. B. Herring of Wilson.

Children: Sallie Vick Johnson, Wallace
John A. Stevens, Jr., Wilmington
Margaret S. Easom, Shelby
Dr. James B. Stevens, Macon, Georgia

- IV. Located at Clinton shortly after graduation and practiced there until his death in 1918.
- V. It was said of Dr. Stevens: "... the skill and noble self-sacrificing nature of a great doctor were his. He was tenderly sympathetic and did much practice among the poor for which he never expected nor received pay."

Dr. Buckner Stith

- I. Born in Virginia.
Parents: Griffin and Frances Townsend Washington Stith
Brother: Dr. George Washington Stith
- III. Married Lucinda Blackwell, daughter of Major Thomas Blackwell Living direct descendants of Dr. Stith are:
Kemp Davis Battle of Rocky Mount
Mrs. James W. Pew of Raleigh
Lawrence Augustine Stith of New Bern
Miss Mary Stith of New Bern
- IV. Dr. Stith began his medical practice in 1813 in Averagesboro, Virginia where he enjoyed a large practice for many years, but he left Virginia prior to 1835 and lived and practiced in Clinton. His home was located on what is now Chesnutt Street.
- V. The book, "They Passed This Way," by Mr. Fowler has a passage which is most descriptive of Dr. Stith's Averagesboro practice, and of political rallies of his day as well. It is quoted as follows:

"The people in and around Averagesboro had a deplorable habit of settling arguments with guns, knives and brass knucks with half inch steel spikes welded to them . . . Naturally, Dr. Stith became quite proficient in patching broken heads, sewing slit skins, and extracting more bullets than teeth.

"The story is told that at a political rally at Averagesboro a voter was nearly disemboweled by another. The victim lay propped against a tree listening to the orator of the day, while Dr. Stith efficiently sewed him together again. So proficient did he become with needle and thread he was waggishly called "Dr. Stitch'."

A record of Dr. Stith's very interesting ancestry is given under the record of his brother, Dr. George Washington Stith.

Dr. George Washington Stith

1810 - 1851

- I. Born in Virginia.
Parents: Griffin and Frances Townsend Washington Stith
Brother: Dr. Bucker Stith
Great-grandsons: Dr. Boyd Stith and Dr. Robert Stith of Mullins, South Carolina
- III. Married Susan King of North Carolina, daughter of John King, first cousin of Vice-President William Rufus King.
Children: Lewis Buckner Stith
John Stith
Frances Stith Parker)
Martha Stith Parker) (Married brothers)
Robert Bolling Stith
George Stith
Susan Stith King
Julius Stith)
Julia Stith King) (Twins)
Griffin Stith

Living direct descendants of Dr. Stith include Elizabeth Bizzell Parmele of Lumberton, Frances Bizzell Dixon of Jacksonville, Florida, and Mrs. John Horner of Shelby, Montana, granddaughters of Robert Bolling Stith.

- IV. Dr. Stith was still a young man when he left Virginia and settled near Newton Grove (then called Monk's Store) where he built a typical colonial type mansion (which was still intact until it was torn down a few years ago). Here he lived and practiced until his death.
- V. Dr. Stith, and his older brother, Dr. Buckner Stith, could presumably claim a more illustrious ancestry than any other Sampson County physicians, as they were descended from two of Virginia's First Families, according to the first volume of "William and Mary Quarterly." On the paternal side they were descended from: Colonel John Stith who emigrated from England in 1656 and settled in Charles City County; Lady Susannah Bathurst, who married Colonel Drury Stith; Lt. Colonel Drury Stith III of the Revolutionary War period; and the learned Captain Buckner Stith who wrote "Stith's History of Virginia" and elaborate essays on tobacco culture. Their maternal lineage was even more celebrated as Frances Townsend Washington Stith was a collateral descendant of President George Washington.

Mrs. Elizabeth Parmele of Lumberton has in her possession two obituary notices of her great-grandfather's death. We quote one:

"Died in Sampson County on the 27th ultimo, Dr. George W.

Stith, for many years a resident of that county."—from The Fayetteville Observer, December 9, 1851, page 3.

The other notice, too long to quote here is from the December 6, 1851, issue of The Raleigh Register.

Dr. William Franklin Stokes

1861 - 1910 ?

- I. Born in Turkey Township.
Parents: John and Mary Catherine Smith Stokes
- II. Attended local schools. Graduated at Wake Forest College, but medical college is unknown.
- III. Never married.
- IV. Practiced in Turkey Township and later in Wilmington.
- V. Because of ill health, Dr. Stokes gave up his practice in Wilmington and returned to his home in Turkey where he died sometime prior to 1910. He and other members of his family are buried on their plantation near New Hope Church south of Turkey.

Dr. Salmon Strong

1800? - 1860?

- I. Born in New Hanover County around 1800.
Parents: Unknown
- II. Nothing is known regarding his formal education.
- III. Married Eliza Sampson, daughter of Michael Sampson.
Children: William Strong
Caroline Strong
Henry Strong
Robert Strong
Michael Strong
George Strong (became Confederate Judge)
- IV. Dr. Strong settled on his wife's plantation two miles northeast of Clinton where he had an extensive practice until his death around 1860.

Dr. Walter James Tate

1852 - 1901

- I. Born near Pike Creek Church in Pender County.
Parents: Thomas Hogan and Mary Shaw Colvin Tate

- II. Attended a medical college in New York City.
- III. Married Mattie M. Whitehead of Kenansville, Duplin County.
Children: Walter James Tate
Thomas Whitehead Tate
Mrs. Eva Tate White
Robert William Tate, Jr.
Charles Lacy Tate of Chadbourn
Cordelia Tate
- IV. Dr. Tate began his practice in Chinquapin, moving to Greensboro three years later. After fifteen years in Greensboro he moved to Salemburg, and then to Chadbourn where he practiced until his death.

Dr. William Ivey Taylor, Sr.

1876 - 1953

- I. Born at Harrells Store.
Parents: Knox and Hattie Faison Taylor
- II. Attended Wake Forest College and Davidson College; graduated from North Carolina Medical College in 1902.
- III. Married Bertha Hood.
Children: Mrs. C. D. Williams, Miami, Florida
Dr. William Ivey Taylor, Jr., Burgaw
- IV. Practiced at Harrells Store 1902-1914; moved to Burgaw in 1914 where he practiced until 1952 when he retired because of ill health.
- V. Practiced medicine for fifty years. After his death, friends and former patients donated $500 to have a room at Pender Memorial Hospital dedicated to his memory and his portrait hung in reception hall of the hospital.

Dr. William Isaiah Thompson

1824 - 1909

- I. Born in Clinton.
Parents: Isaiah and Miriam Moseley Thompson
- II. After attending local schools, he began to "read medicine" with a cousin, Dr. George Moseley. Later attended Medical College of University of City of New York for one year; then because of the severity of the climate, he transferred to a medical school in Charleston, South Carolina.
- III. Married Ann Thomson, daughter of Curtis Thomson, in 1869.
Children: Mrs. Wilbert Jackson, Clinton
Mrs. Frank Dameron, Clinton

Mrs. James Middleton
William Thompson, Jr.

- IV. Practiced in Sampson except for a short sojourn in Texas in 1851 where he went as physician with Lee's emigrants to Brazoria County, and for the years he spent in Florida as family physician to his uncle, Gov. William Moseley.
- V. Dr. Thompson had given up a large Sampson County practice to go to Florida, and when the Civil War broke out he returned to his native Sampson. After brief service in Virginia, he returned home to try to meet the medical needs of a large section left without the services of a doctor.

He was never strong physically and after the strenuous war years, he retired to a plantation three miles east of Faison where his practice was on a very limited basis. For many years, Dr. Thompson was an elder and leader in the Faison Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Henry Cleveland Turlington

1888 - 1949

- I. Born in Sampson County.
Parents: James Henry and Ida Smith Turlington
- II. Was taught in subscription and private schools until 1907 when he entered Oak Ridge Institute. Attended University of North Carolina; was graduated from Medical College of Virginia in 1913.
- III. Married Iris Odelle Chapelle of Washington, D. C.
Children: Henry Cleveland Turlington, Jr.
James Everette Turlington
Virginia Odelle Turlington
- IV. Practiced in Sampson County 1913-1917. The two years 1917-1919 were spent in military service, after which he returned to his former practice; but in 1921 he moved to Dunn. His Dunn practice was ended, however, in 1927 when he was forced to retire because of the condition of his health.
- V. Dr. Turlington's promising career as a physician was cut short by his illness, and the last twenty-three years of his life were spent in an unending battle to regain his own health. As far as his strength permitted, he took part in civic affairs, serving as Commander of the American Legion, Mayor of Dunn, member of Dunn Rotary Club, and organizer of Legion Baseball Program of Dunn.

During his Military service he took part in St. Mihiel, Meuse, and Argonne engagements and served with the Army of Occupation for eight months, being honorably discharged with the rank of captain. Dr. W. T. Rainey of Fayetteville says of Dr. Turlington, "No one knows the greatness of Cleveland Turlington's courage during the years of disappointments and suffering—he was truly a casualty of the First World War."

Dr. Oscar Earnest Underwood

1885 - 1935

- I. Born at Earnest near Salemburg.
Parents: Alvin Earnest and Nena Crumpler Underwood
Brother: Dr. A. D. Underwood, a dentist of Roseboro
Brother-in-law: Dr. Roscoe Turlington, dentist of Clinton
- II. Attended school at Salemburg Academy; Buies Creek; Medical College of Virginia (Class of 1909). During later years, attended short medical courses at various hospitals and clinics.
- III. Married Ethel Shearin of Whitakers.
Two children: Mrs. Elizabeth W. Phillips, Roseboro
George William Underwood, Laurinburg
- IV. Began practice in 1909 in home community of Earnest. In 1913 moved to Roseboro where he took over the practice of Dr. Paul Crumpler. Shortly afterward opened small clinic with Miss Ossie Butler as his assistant. In 1920 entered into partnership with Dr. J. Street Brewer, with Dr. Underwood then specializing in diagnosis and office work.
- V. Dr. Underwood's interest in diagnosis and studies along that line resulted in his introducing new methods and devices to Sampson County. Among these new methods were stomach analysis by means of stomach tubes; metabolism tests; X-ray machine; fluoroscope; equipment for diathermy; and infrared and ultra-violet ray lamps.

But medicine alone could not fill his active mind. He was interested in everybody and in everything—education, business enterprises, and civic progress. He was a Mason, Shriner; Woodman of the World; member of Sampson County Board of Education; trustee of Pineland College; organizer of Roseboro Chamber of Commerce; member of Rotary Club; owned first "picture show" in Roseboro; owned first Ford Agency in Roseboro; and brought other business enterprises to Roseboro.

With all this serious activity he found time to really enjoy life—he loved dancing, golf, expensive clothes, and automobiles, especially his famous "Red Racer."

As one friend summed it up, "He died at fifty but he left a legend of work, kindness, stories, jokes, and cheerful memories."

Dr. Robert West

? - 1942

- I. Born in Newton Grove.
Parents: John and Sarah Rose West
Father-in-law: Dr. John Carr Monk
- II. Graduate of University College of Medicine, Richmond
- III. Married Flora Monk, daughter of Dr. John Carr Monk.
One child who died in infancy.
- IV. Practiced in Salisbury.
- V. A most interesting book of old newspaper clippings owned by Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Johnson of Clinton, includes one which is quoted below:

From the Sampson Democrat and date-lined September 12, 1895, Newton Grove:

"Mr. Robert M. West and Miss Flora Monk both of this place were united in the bonds of matrimony on Tuesday morning, September 10th. The marriage was solemnized in the Catholic Church here with impressive rites at the early hour of 5 A. M. when holy mass was said. . . . The bride and groom left immediately after the ceremony for Richmond, Virginia, where Mr. West becomes a medical student. The bride is the daughter of the late Dr. Jno. Monk. . . ."

A note of sadness is added by a second clipping appearing several pages later in the book and dated simply "Spring '97."

"The death of Mrs. Flora Monk West, the aimable young wife of our good friend Mr. Robert West of Newton Grove and second daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. Jno. C. Monk occurred Friday at Salisbury. . . ."

Dr. Timothy Graham Williams

1886 - 1943

- I. Born about five miles from Delway.
Parents: Timothy and Alice Wells Williams
- II. Attended Dell High School; University of North Carolina (Class of 1909) and George Washington University (Class of 1911). Interned at a hospital in Washington.
- III. Married Amanda McGowan of Masonboro.
One son: Timothy Graham Williams, Jr., of Wallace
- IV. Practiced at Conetoe; Columbus, Georgia, and Wallace.
- V. Veteran of World War I, spending the year 1918-1919 overseas.

In 1935 because of failing health he retired to his old home near Delway where he practiced on a very limited basis.

Mrs. Williams tells this little story which pays tribute to the medical skill of Dr. Homer Arthur. When Dr. Williams was a very small boy he broke his elbow. It was a very serious break with the bones protruding. Dr. Arthur was called and set the arm so skillfully that in later years Dr. Williams had to ask his parents to find out which arm had been broken.

Dr. Robert Bruce Wilson

1856 - 1935

- I. Born in Sampson County.
Parents: Joseph and Elizabeth Ward Wilson
- II. Began his medical study by "reading medicine" under a Dr. Colvin of Harnett County for a year. Then attended Kentucky School of Medicine at Louisville, graduating in 1889.
- III. Married Novella Stroud in 1890.
Children: Dr. Thomas Hooper Wilson (died 1918)
R. B. Wilson, Jr., of Clinton
- IV. Practiced in Harnett County 1889-1895.
Practiced in Newton Grove in 1895-1935.
- V. Dr. Wilson was a man of varied interests and talents. Both he and Mrs. Wilson were gifted musicians and were often asked to perform together at public meetings. He was also in demand as a speaker because of his human interest stories which were always told with wit and humor. His great hobby was quail hunting.

As a physician Dr. Wilson was widely recognized for his success in the treatment of typhoid fever and pneumonia. He also was a pioneer in the use of diptheria antitoxin and was remarkably successful in administering the drug.

It was said of him that he never refused to treat anyone calling on him. The simple epitaph on his monument, "He was a friend to all, especially the poor" is a fitting tribute to his memory.

Dr. Windley

Dr. Windley practiced in Clinton in the early 1900's for four or five years. He came here from the eastern part of North Carolina, and returned there—Chocowinity, as remembered by Mrs. Janie Herring.

He was married to a very fine woman, Mrs. Herring says.

He drove a beautiful horse, and was seen often on the streets of Clinton.

Dr. John Bryan Wright

1874 - 1956

- I. Born near Ingold.
Parents: John Cromartie and Bettie Herring Wright
- II. Graduate of University of North Carolina and of Medical College of Virginia.
- III. Married Violet Rhodes.
Children: John B. Wright, Jr., of Farmville
Dr. James R. Wright of Raleigh
Dr. Isaac C. Wright of Raleigh
Mrs. E. B. Crow of Wilson
Mrs. Ben Kilgore of Franklin, Kentucky
Mrs. Charles F. Williams of Raleigh
- IV. After graduation Dr. Wright practiced at Granite Falls as general practitioner until 1913 when he moved to Raleigh to begin a distinguished career as a pioneer in eye, ear, nose, and throat surgery.
- V. Dr. Wright served as president of the Wake County Medical Society; president of the Medical Society of North Carolina; member of the Fifty Year Club of the State Medical Society; fellow of the American College of Surgeons; member of Board of Directors of Raleigh Building and Loan Association; elder of First Presbyterian Church; Sunday School teacher over forty years; leader in organization and operation of free tonsil clinics for indigent school children throughout North Carolina.

Dr. George W. Paschal, Jr., says of Dr. Wright and his work, "His was a long and distinguished career of service . . . he set for himself high professional standards which were an example for all his colleagues. He demonstrated a great capacity for work, a devotion to his professional responsibilities, and a great love for all his patients, which in turn brought him love and affection."

Dr. Homer Clytus Wysong

1888 - 1940

- I. Born in Louisburg, Tennessee.
Parents: Andrew Jackson and Lula Williams Wysong
- II. Graduate of Medical College of University of Tennessee
- III. Married Elizabeth Hinton Grant.
Children: Elizabeth Grant Wysong
Dorothy Smith Wysong
Emily Whitehead Wysong
Homer Louise Wysong

IV. Dr. Wysong practiced in the Harrell's Store section of Sampson County from 1923 until 1930.

V. Mr. Ferd Johnson recalls seeing Dr. Wysong, who was an outstanding left-handed baseball pitcher, in a game against Carolina many years ago.

Part III

WE HONOR THE PRESENT

"... And when he saw him, he had compassion on him,
And went to him, and bound up his wounds, pouring in oil and wine, and set him on his own beast, and brought him to an inn, and took care of him."

Holy Bible, Luke 10:33-34

Part IV.

We Envision the Future

The last story has been told, the last record written, the last leaf is about to be turned and so we come to the end . . . or is it the end? Let us venture the hope and the prayer that we have not reached the end, but in reality only a new beginning . . . a beginning of a more illustrious chapter in the history of Sampson County medicine . . . a chapter to be written in the living records of the present by the doctors of today and tomorrow who may be inspired to greater heights of service and greater depths of sympathetic understanding by reading the records of those dedicated men of yesterday who have already forever written their stories in unselfish service . . . consecrated to the achievement of physical healing, mental happiness, and spiritual well-being of the multitudes of men, women and children who have populated our county and our state.

Almost 2000 years ago in ancient Greece, a man named Hippocrates, kindled the spark and lighted the torch of ministering to the needs of suffering humanity which is the heart and soul of the practice of medicine. During the intervening centuries men of many nationalities and creeds kept the torch burning until it was brought to the New World and to our own Sampson County in 1736 in the sturdy hands of William Houston. Since that day, Sampson County's distinguished M. D.'s have proved worthy custodians, for high indeed has the torch been held, and bright the flame in the consecrated hands of a skilled surgeon like Dr. Jacob Franklin Highsmith, a devoted public health official such as Dr. George Marion Cooper, or a faithful family doctor of the caliber of Dr. Algernon Moseley Lee. If these men and all their colleagues could speak with one voice to the doctors of our day, their message might well be in the words of John McCrae,

"To you from failing hands we throw
The torch, be yours to hold it high."

The last story has been told the last record written the last leaf is about to be turned and we come to the end of the world. Let us venture the hope and the prayer that we have not reached the end but in reality only a new beginning. . . a beginning of a new life.
and chapter in the history of Oregon County families. . . a chapter to be written in the long records of the past by the hands of today and tomorrow who may be placed in greater heights of service and greater depths of sympathy understanding by reaching the top and of those destined men of yesterday who have already to some extent a few minutes of service. . . connected to the active part of physical history mental happiness and spiritual well-being of the human race of men women and children who have enriched our country and our state.

Almost 25 years ago in 1892 Oregon County was named after the great and noble the land of adventure in the heart of our nation. which is the heart and soul of the people of our state. It was the first of many men of many nations and states who have been living and it was brought to the New World and to our own Oregon County in 1892 in the early days of the new century. Since that day Oregon County's development has been have proved worthy of recognition for this history has the story of the past and the future in the concentrated hands of a few men like Dr. James Francis McPherson a devoted public health officer and as the Oregon County looked to a future history book of the future of Oregon County. It is these men and all their larger and smaller with one voice in the history of our state message right well in the story of John McPherson.

Two men talking hands we know the world is yours to hold it.
